So there is no one on file against the medical marijuana? I only ask since there is a group suing us about the yes statement and in a meeting I specifically told them that if they registered with OCPF they could write the against argument. The people suing us are the Massachusetts Prevention Alliance. Any records of them?

Mike-

It's that time of year again—preparing the Information for Voters booklet. As you are aware, as part of this process, this Office must seek arguments for and against the proposed ballot measures from the principal proponents and opponents. In accordance with the provisions of General Laws chapter 54, section 54, I am writing to seek contact information for each non-elected political committee organized under the provisions of chapter 55 which is on file with your office to influence the outcome of such a measure.

At this point, there are four (4) petitions circulating:

Medical Use of Marijuana [11-11] – Petition A

Educator Evaluation Standards [11-20]—Petition B

Prescribing Medication to End Life [11-12] – Petition G

Availability of Motor Vehicle Repair Information [11-16] – Petition L

Thank you for your attention to this matter and I look forward to your response.

Hi Michael-

We try to keep formatting to the extent possible. You can look at past versions on our website for examples.

As for hyphenated words- you can use them, but just because you add a hyphen, doesn't mean it is now counted as one word.

I'm happy to discuss further tomorrow when I'm in the office.

I am writing to you seeking a contact for the opponents to the Massachusetts ballot question entitled "Availability of Motor Vehicle Repair Information." I also left you a voice mail message on Tuesday, July 3rd.

Under state law, the principal proponents and opponents of state ballot questions may write arguments for/against the ballot question, which are printed in the Information for Voters Booklet, a publication sent to each household in Massachusetts.

As the lobbyist for the Alliance of Automobile Manufacturers, I was hoping that you could direct me to the proper in-state contact for the opponents of the ballot question.

Matt-

The argument cannot be longer than one hundred and fifty (150) words and must be received within ten (10) days from the filing deadline which was July 3rd. Accordingly, the argument must be received no later than 5:00 p.m. on Friday, July 13, 2012. Additionally, please note that contact information of the author of each argument is also printed in the booklet. Such information includes the name of the organization (and may include the name of an individual), address, telephone number and website, if available, of the organization.

Under the state law, we are required to look at the records of the Office of Campaign and Political Science to see what campaign committees have organized for and against the questions to determine principal proponents and opponents. When I checked the records on Tuesday, I noticed that there was a committee that organized on July 2nd against the question called "Citizens Committee for Safe and Fair Repair" listing David N. Martin of 202 Bonham Rd., Dedham as the Chairman and Treasurer. Is your organization related to this committee?

As for guidelines for the arguments—the arguments can only be 150 words, and yes, we count them. Additionally, the argument must be to the question itself and not regarding the sponsors or other issues not directly relating to the question. (One year we had a group submit the "against" argument which solely attacked the sponsor of the petition as being a criminal, etc. We rejected the argument). Also, if you intend to include factual statements such as statistics, we will need you to also include documentary evidence to support your findings which can be published studies, newspaper articles, etc.

I hope this is helpful and let me know if you have any further questions.

I am writing to follow-up on our discussions back in May regarding the arguments that are printed in the Information for Voters Booklet. As I mentioned during our meeting at the AG's office, this Office looks at those committees organized with the Office of Campaign and Political Finance to determine the principal proponents and opponents when determining the proposed authors for the arguments.

Based on a review of the records of OCPF, it does not appear that your clients have formed a committee against the ballot question "Medical Use of Marijuana." It was my understanding that your clients were interested in writing the "against" argument for the ballot question and were going to be in communication with me. Since I haven't heard from you, I wanted to follow-up since it is unclear whether your clients were still interested and if so, who the primary contact would be that I can confirm the information with. Hi Michael-

The contact information does NOT count towards the 150 word count.

Yes, the statement can be authored by and name a person who is not an officer of the Committee, but the contact information must still contain the committee name. The rationale behind the Committee name requirement is that the state law requires us to use the principal proponents and opponents who have organized with OCPF. If you use a name of an organization other than the one on file with OCPF, someone could challenge the argument on the grounds they were not qualified to author it.

Does that make sense?

Michelle

Michelle,

We're putting the final touches on our 150 word argument. Does the contact information (name, organization, phone, etc) count towards the 150 words? Also, I want to make sure the argument there are no specific requirements regulating what the statement must say and under the name or organizations it comes under. For example, can the statement come from individual that is not an officer of the official Ballot Question Committee? I can provide a draft example, if that helps.

Thanks,
Michael

Importance: High

Hi Michelle,

As I mentioned, Richard Goldstein is away so I am submitting the attached material on his behalf.

Attached is the completed contact information form and in a separate attachment is our committee's 150 word argument.

Please let me know that you received this email.

Hard copies of both attachments will be sent to you as well, per your letter to Richard.

Thanks again.

Dear Mr. Goldstein-

I am writing to as the principal opponent for the ballot question entitled "Prescribing Medication to End Life" to provide you with information regarding authoring the AGAINST argument that will appear in the Information for Voters Booklet.

Please be reminded that the argument cannot exceed 150 words—and we do count!

Please do not hesitate to contact me with any questions.

Subject: Citizens Committee for Safe and Fair Repair 150 word statement and contact

Michelle,
As promised, here is the phone number and URL to make our information complete.

AGAINST: Automakers already make repair information and tools available for purchase by anyone as a result of a 2002 national agreement. Repair shops oppose this measure because the current system works.

This measure would negatively alter how repair information is provided and mandate the redesign of all cars, trucks, 18-wheelers, public transit and school buses, fire engines, ambulances, motorcycles and RVs. It would require the use of 15-year-old, outdated technology. Worse, this backward redesign – which adds to sticker price – must occur by January 2, 2014 or vehicles cannot be sold in Massachusetts.

This measure could lead to the release of sensitive personal information, make vehicle hacking easier, and threaten safety and fuel efficiency innovation. Increased safety threats – including theft – are why law enforcement opposes the measure.

Nothing in the measure requires any supposed savings to be passed on to consumers.

A “no” vote protects consumer safety and ensures vehicle choice.

Michelle,

Below (and attached as a word file) please find the Citizens Committee for Safe and Fair Repair's required submission for the voter ballot guide. As discussed earlier today, we will supplement this submission with a phone number and website by this coming Tuesday, July 17.

Regarding the "Author/Contact" .pdf, I filled out this form and have included it as an attachment. I signed the form. If the author/contact must sign the form, please let me know and we will have David sign the form and resubmit it.

As required, I will also send you a hard copy.

Thank you for your help today. Please let me know if you need anything else.
